

_____th Grade, Quarter _____ Self-Review Assignment

Now that the school year is _____% over, it is time to assess how you've done so far. You will be ranking yourself from 1 to 4 stars in several categories. Next to each star you give yourself, write a bullet point or brief note explaining what you did to earn that star. For each star you left blank, explain why you lost the point in that category. In each category, you MUST give yourself a ranking from 1 to 4, so in other words, you may not give yourself a perfect score, or a zero, in any category. There is always something to celebrate, and something to improve, if we only look critically and honestly enough.

Example: If Mr. Strauss were to rank his eating habits, it would look something like this...

Remember, don't be too hard on yourself, or give yourself too much credit. That's just one part of maturity...

#1 Academic Effort (gain stars for grades you are proud of, lose points for subjects where you could have done better...)

#2 Social Skills (gain stars for positive friendships and gestures of goodwill, lose points for drama that could have been avoided)

#3 Classroom Conduct (gain stars for positive interactions with your teachers/classmates, lose points for behavioral correction)

#4 Hobby Development (gain stars for frequent practice or improvement, lose points for areas you need to work on)

ON THE BACK: Write an informal 4 paragraph review of your first quarter, focusing on each of the rankings above. This entire assignment will be "blind man" checked for completion.
